General Provisions

2. No Order submitted by a Customer shall be deemed accepted by the Company until the Company issues to the Customer a written Confirmation of Order accepting the Order. No variation of these Conditions is to have any effect unless confirmed in writing by a General Manager or Director of the Company.
3. These Conditions shall also apply to service and/or repair contracts in so far as they are applicable to such contracts.

Health and Safety

4. The Goods are sold subject to the condition that the directions, warnings and advice given by the Company in the instruction manual supplied with the Goods, or which are subsequently notified by the Company as a safety re-work notice to the Customer in writing, are strictly observed and that their contents are specifically drawn to the attention of the Customer's employees and own customers.
5. The Customer shall be solely responsible for providing at its own cost all such safety equipment and for fully equipping the Goods to meet the standards for the time being imposed pursuant to the Health and Safety at Work, etc. Act 1974 in the light of the Customer's own particular working conditions, location of equipment and requirements; and ensuring that all and any appropriate safety procedures are implemented, documented and communicated to the Customer's employees and own customers.

Warranty

 - i) Any warranty which is supplied by the Company in respect the Goods shall be in writing. Where no written warranty is provided by the Company, the Goods are acknowledged by the Customer to be "sold as seen" and the Customer, without prejudice to its right under clause 10 below, waives to the extent permissible by law all rights it may otherwise have against the Company in respect of the condition of, or any damage or other loss caused by such Goods.
 - ii) In the event that the Goods are "sold as seen" the Customer will be deemed to have satisfied itself as to the condition of the Goods prior to purchase, and further is put on notice that the Goods may not necessarily comply with The Health & Safety at Work Act 1974 or any other legislation governing their use: it is the Customer's responsibility to take such action as is necessary to ensure that any subsequent use of the Goods after purchase does not contravene such legislation.

Specification

 - i) Subject to clause 8 the Company warrants that the Goods will comply with the Specification;
 - ii) Subject to the provisions of Clause 7(i) hereof it is the Customer's responsibility to ensure that the Goods are fit for the Customer's purpose and the Company shall have no responsibility whatsoever to the Customer for any damage costs claims or expenses suffered by the Customer or any third party arising as a result of the failure of the Goods to be fit for the Customer's purpose.
 - iii) The Company shall not be liable to the Customer for any failure of the Goods to accord with any recommendation of the Company made in good faith but not contained in the Specification.
 - iv) To the extent that the Goods have incorporated in them specific works carried out by the Company or on the Company's behalf by its subcontractor, IPR in such works shall vest in the Company and the Customer shall indemnify the Company from and against any infringement thereof by the Customer.
8. The Company shall have the right to alter the specification of the Goods without prior reference to the Customer provided that any such alteration does not in the reasonable opinion of the Company materially alter the quality or performance of the Goods.
9. All drawing dimensions and weights provided by the Company are approximate only and the Company does not warrant or represent them to be correct.
 - i) In the case of damaged Goods or shortage of delivery or non-conformity with order, written notice must be given by the Customer to the Company within five Working Days of delivery, stating the Customer's contact number and specifying in reasonable detail the circumstances giving rise to the claim;
 - ii) Where Goods are accepted from the carrier concerned without being checked, the delivery document must be signed "not examined";
 - iii) In default of compliance with the foregoing provisions of this Clause the Customer shall not be entitled to refuse to take the delivery of the Goods or any part of them.
11. Where the contract is for delivery in instalments, defects in quality in any delivery shall not be a ground for the cancellation of the remainder of the contract.

Time for Delivery

12. Where a period is named for delivery and is not extended by mutual agreement in writing, then the Company reserves the right to require the Customer to take delivery within that period.
13. The Company reserves the right to make partial deliveries.
14. Although the Company will use reasonable endeavours to deliver the Goods at the rate and at the time quoted for delivery, it shall not be liable for any loss or damage arising from its failure to do so and time of delivery shall not be of the essence of this contract.
15. In the case of a Force Majeure Event delaying any delivery, such delivery may be wholly or partially suspended and the time of such suspension added to the original contract period.

Liability and Indemnity

16. The Company shall not be liable to the Customer and the Customer shall indemnify the Company from and against all actions, costs, claims and demands of whatever nature made against the Company for any loss and damage including consequential loss or damage caused:-
 - i) By the failure of the Customer or its employees, servants or agents to observe the directions and advice given by the Company in the instruction manual supplied with the Goods, or to comply with the terms of any safety re-work notice, or to implement any appropriate safety procedures;
 - ii) By any defect arising out of the use of or in the quality of the Goods supplied or in the Goods not being fit for any purpose unless such use, quality or fitness for purpose was indicated in the Specification for Goods or their description;
 - iii) By any defect or deficiency in the Goods where the failure of the Customer to comply with the conditions for acceptance and delivery contained in Clause 10 hereof has prevented a proper verification and proof of such defect or deficiency;
 - iv) By the use of any Goods otherwise than within the stated capacity of the same as stated in the Specification or by the failure of the Customer to maintain the Goods in accordance with the maintenance schedule contained in the manual supplied with the Goods or the failure to provide safety equipment in accordance with Clause 5;
 - v) By any defect arising from fair wear and tear, wilful damage, abnormal working conditions or alteration, adjustment adaptation or repair by a party other than the Company.
- Neither party shall have any liability whatsoever to the other under this Agreement in respect of any failure to perform obligations as a result of a Force Majeure Event. Notwithstanding the foregoing, each party shall use reasonable endeavours to continue to perform, or resume performance of such obligations for the duration of the Force Majeure Event. Notwithstanding the provisions of Clause 15 above, if any Force Majeure Event continues for more than 3 months either party may terminate the relevant Order on written notice without either party having any liability to the other.
17. The liability of the Company hereunder shall further be limited to the cost of repair or rectification or (at the option of the Company) the replacement of any Goods found to be defective under the warranty referred to in Clause 6. The Company shall not be liable to the Customer for any indirect or consequential damages or loss, or any loss of profit, business, revenue or production arising from a defect in the Goods other than consequential loss following directly from death or personal injury arising as a result of the negligence of the Company or its employees or sub-contractors.

Export

18. All business transacted by the parties hereunder is subject to the export control regulations of, but not limited to, the United Kingdom, European Union and the United States of America. Supply of Goods is made in accordance with information supplied by the Customer at time of despatch by the Company. Export, re-export, retransfer or use of Goods contra to these regulations is a criminal offence and is the responsibility of the Customer.

As a minimum, Goods must not be supplied to Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan or Syria nor to a person or organisation appearing on a UK government recognised "denied parties list", including for example Bank of England Terrorist lists, EU Sanctions and US Denied Parties Lists.

All Orders must stipulate the delivery address and ultimate destination of the Goods, along with the agreed form of Incoterms 2010. Where Orders are received from UK Customers who are using a Freight Forwarder, the Company must be informed in writing, prior to delivery of the Goods, of who is to be named as the exporter with HMRC. For the avoidance of doubt, where a Freight Forwarder is involved, under no circumstances does the Company give the Customer any approval or authority, express or implied, for the Company to be named as the exporter.

The Company reserves the right to delay despatch of Goods or terminate the sale contract entirely if it does not receive satisfactory evidence as to the identity of the exporter and the ultimate destination of the Goods.

Passing of Risk

19. Risk in the Goods shall pass to the Customer on their delivery by the Company to the Customer's nominated address, ready for unloading. In the event that the Customer is to collect the Goods risk shall pass upon collection of the Goods from the Company's premises, whether by the Customer itself or by a carrier nominated by the Customer.

Passing of Property

 - i) Property in the Goods shall not pass to the Customer and the full legal and beneficial ownership of the Goods shall remain with the Company unless and until the Company has received payment in full and in cleared funds for the Goods and for all other goods agreed to be sold by the Company to the Customer for which payment is then due;
 - ii) Until property in the Goods has passed to the Customer in accordance with the preceding sub-clause and without prejudice to the Company's rights:-
 - a) the Customer shall not remove any nameplates, markings or signs affixed to the Goods by the manufacturer or by the Company and shall keep the Goods marked and apart from any other goods so as to distinguish and separate the Goods from other goods;
 - b) the Customer shall retain the Goods in a fiduciary capacity as bailee for the Company and shall not without the prior written consent of the Company sell the Goods or any part of them;
 - c) the Company shall be entitled to immediate re-delivery of the Goods and to re-sell the Goods at any time after the due date for payment or before such date in the case of the occurrence of any of the events referred to in Clauses 22 or 25 hereof and for the purpose of such recovery and/or re-sale of the Goods the Company shall be entitled and the Customer hereby grants to the Company its officers, servants and agents a licence (or, in Scotland, the power) to enter upon the premises or property of the Customer during normal business hours and to remove the Goods (including dismantling and/or separation from other goods to which the Goods are attached and/or severance from the realty or, in Scotland, separation from heritable property when necessary).

Terms of Payment

 - i) Unless otherwise stated on the Company's Confirmation of Order, payment shall be net cash due:
 - a) prior to delivery in the case of Goods other than parts and services; and
 - b) 30 days from the date of invoice, in the case of parts and service, and time of payment shall be of the essence of this Contract.
 - ii) If the Customer cannot accept delivery when it has been notified that the Goods are completed and ready for delivery, then the time when the Goods are ready shall count as the delivery date and payment shall be made accordingly unless otherwise agreed in writing by the Company;
 - iii) The Company shall be entitled to charge interest on overdue accounts at 4% above Barclays Bank plc base lending rate for the time being in force calculated at monthly rates.
 - iv) If any dispute connected with an invoice exists between the parties, the Customer may not withhold or delay payment of those elements of the invoice which are not in dispute.
 - v) The Company reserves the right to charge a fee in respect of any cancelled Order. Such fee shall be calculated at 15% of the value of the cancelled Order. The parties acknowledge that such fee is a fair and reasonable estimate of the likely administrative, storage and re-marketing costs to be incurred by the Company as a result of the cancellation.
22. If before delivery is effected there arise reasonable grounds for the Company to believe that the Customer will not be able to fulfil its payment obligations, the Company shall have the right to demand from the Customer security for the payment or such other assurance as it may require. From the date of demand for security or other assurance until the date of satisfactory provision of the same, the Company shall be under no obligation to do any act or thing to implement any part of the Contract. If security or other assurance acceptable to the Company is not offered within such reasonable period as may be specified by the Company, the Company may terminate the contract without further liability on its part but the Customer shall be liable to the Company in respect of any losses (including loss of profits) incurred by the Company as a consequence of such determination.

23. The Company shall have a general lien on all goods and property of the Customer in the possession of the Company in respect in all sums due from the Customer to the Company but unpaid and the Company shall be entitled on giving fourteen days notice in writing to the Customer to dispose of such goods or property and to apply the proceeds thereof towards the reduction of such debt.
24. The Customer hereby waives any right which it may have against the Company to set off any sums which may be due to it for whatever reason and undertakes to pay the Company for the Goods in accordance with the terms of payment set out under Clause 21.

Termination of Contract

25. In the event that:-
 - i) The Customer commits any breach of these Conditions; or
 - ii) An incumbrancer takes possession or a receiver is appointed over any of the assets of the Customer; or
 - iii) The Customer makes any voluntary arrangement with its creditors or becomes subject to an administration order; or
 - iv) The Customer goes into liquidation; or
 - v) A winding up petition or bankruptcy petition against the Customer; or
 - vi) Execution is levied against the property or assets of the Customer; or
 - vii) Anything analogous to the foregoing under the law of any jurisdiction occurs in relation to the Customer.

then in any such case the Company shall have right forthwith to terminate any contract then subsisting, upon written notice of such termination being posted to the Customer's registered office or (being an individual) his last known address in the United Kingdom and the Contract shall be deemed to have been determined without any prejudice to claim or right the Company may otherwise make or exercise.

Price

 - i) All prices are subject to any validity period expressly stated, and thereafter may be subject to alteration by the Company without notice;
 - ii) All prices are exclusive of V.A.T which shall be charged by the Company where applicable at the then prevailing rate.

Proper Law of Contract

27. These Conditions and any contract made in accordance with them will be subject to and constructed in accordance with English Law and the Company and the Customer hereby submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.

Rights of Third Parties

28. No persons other than the Company and the Customer shall have any rights under the Contracts (Rights of third Parties) Act 1999 to enforce any of the Conditions of this contract and the Company and the Customer reserve the right to amend the contract without giving notice or requiring the consent of any third party.

Anti-Bribery and Corruption

29. The Customer shall comply with all applicable laws, statutes, regulations in force from time to time relating to anti-bribery and anti-corruption, including but not limited to the Bribery Act 2010. Upon reasonable request by the Company the Customer agrees to provide information about the measures it has in place to comply with the Bribery Act 2010.

Parts Sales – special termsService Exchange and Remanufactured Units

30. Any Company service exchange parts or remanufactured units sold to the Customer will be invoiced in full at the time of sale at the price shown in the Company's service exchange parts and remanufactured units price list. If the Customer returns to the Company a similar specification part or unit ("the returned part") to the one it has purchased from the Company at the time of purchase or within fourteen days of the purchase having taken place, then a credit will be raised for the returned part, if the returned part is in an acceptable condition, based on the acceptance criteria set by the Company. For the returned part to be in an acceptable condition it must be in an assembled state and not deficient of any major component.

The returned part, if accepted in exchange, will immediately become the property of the Company.

Unless otherwise stated, the Company warrants service exchange parts and remanufactured units sold by it to be free from defects in material and workmanship under normal usage conditions for a period of six months from the date of sale. During this period:

- If the service exchange part or remanufactured unit has been fitted by the Company it will repair or replace the unit at its discretion and at its cost, including labour and transportation cost;
- If the service exchange part or remanufactured unit has been fitted by the Customer then any claim under this warranty is limited to the cost of repair or replacement of the defective part or unit at the Company's discretion at any established branch of the Company, and does not include any cost of transportation or removal and refitting by the Customer.

31. In circumstances where the Customer wishes to return any parts sold to it by the Company, then the Company's Parts Return Policy in force at that time shall apply. A copy of this Parts Return Policy is available on request.
